Call for New BOW Instructors

Do you have an outdoor skill that you'd like to share with others, such as archery, fishing, camping or riflery? The Becoming an Outdoors-Woman program (BOW) is offering training to teach beginning classes to adult women.

BOW will offer an instructor orientation session on Saturday, June 25 in Stevens Point. This training is open to anyone interested in teaching outdoor skills to adults. Session topics include teaching tips and techniques, gender issues and a hands-on teaching demonstration using the topic of archery/bowhunting.

The training will be held at Schmeckle Reserve on the UWSP campus from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The registration fee is $25 and includes the BOW Instructor Orientation Manual, interactive learning, and lunch. Contact Diane Lueck (715-228-2070 or dlueck@uniontel.net) with questions or to receive registration materials and an agenda.

Becoming an Outdoors-Woman (BOW) is an award-winning outdoor skills program teaching introductory-level courses throughout the United States, Canada and New Zealand. Workshops are held in a supportive atmosphere, with classes taught by patient, enthusiastic instructors. A wide range of topics are offered, equally balanced between hunting and shooting skills, fishing and angling skills, and nonharvest skills like canoeing, kayaking, backpacking, dog sledding and much more.
