

I'm going to order the brake calipers off of Gokartsupply.com. Can the caliper arms be switched around, or is there a right and left caliper or do I have to hook it up with one cable pulling from the back and using a pulley or grommet to get the other cable to pull from the front to engage both calipers at the same time?

Thanks

Jason Faust

Could you tell us the model number of the calipers you are looking at purchasing? It would help determine if the lever arm could be reversed.