Your homestay family agrees to give you a safe environment, a private or semi-private room with your own bed, and three meals per day ("brown bag" lunch on school days). They agree to include you in all normal family activities. The Homestay Coordinator will place you with a family, which is as much like the one you describe as possible, but the family might not be everything you requested.

I agree to live with an American family and follow these rules:

- I will offer to pay my share when we eat at a restaurant.
- I will try my best to follow all family rules.
- I will keep my room clean and offer to help with family chores.
- I will not make long distance phone calls without asking permission.
- I will ask my family for permission before I invite my friends over.
- I will always tell my family what time I will be home when I go out.
- I will share in family activities and responsibilities, not as a guest, but as an equal member of the family.
